DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's amendments filed November 21, 2006 have been entered. Claims 2-3 have been cancelled. Claim 1 is pending.

The outstanding rejection under 35 USC 112, first paragraph is withdrawn in view of the amendments filed November 21, 2006.

The outstanding rejections under 35 USC 102 are withdrawn in view of the amendments filed 21, 2006 as the claim is directed to the use of specific dosage of chlorpheniramine to treat motion sickness.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ueno in view of US 4,624,965 ('965), references of record.

Art Unit: 1617

Ueno et al. teaches treatment of S. murinus by administering 20mg/kg of chlorpheniramine in treating motion sickness (see the abstract).

Ueno et al. does not expressly teach the dosage of chlorpheniramine as 12mg.

'965 teaches a method of the similar compounds such as brompheniramine (structurally analog to chlorpheniramine, only one atom different) studied in Ueno et al., in a low dose, to treat motion sickness (See the abstract, also col. 1-2).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to employ the instant dose of chlorpheniramine in a method of treating motion sickness.

One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to employ the herein claimed dose of chlorpheniramine in a method of treating motion sickness. It is known that chlorpheniramine as useful and effective in treating motion sickness. It is also known that lowering the dose according to the method of '965 can effectively achieve the therapeutic blood level. Therefore, employing chlorpheniramine in the method of '965 to treat motion sickness would therefore be obvious since lowering the dose would also lower the side effect associated with the active agent.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 1617

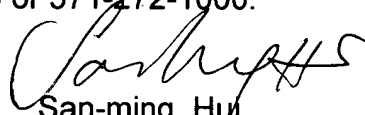

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
